interests

Programming

I'm fascinated with the potential of controlling and executing logic, in any programming language

I'm a firm believer in the OpenSource community and strive to one day contribute to a successful OpenSource project

"Code you stow away and hide has a way of becoming like the cheese in the back of the fridge, old moldy and useless.

Code you show to others also has a way of coming back to you improved." — Jared Tarbell of levitated.net

Design

I believe Graphic Design and Programming are essentially about the same thing, solving problems

My passion for design comes from knowing I'll never stop growing as a designer
